COLLEGE BUDGET TO BE PRESENTED

UEL W. LAMKIN AND W. A. BLAGE
IN JEFFERSON CITY TODAY.

ARE ASKING $520,000

For Two Year Period—Rapid Growth of College Necessitates Larger Facilities.

W. A. Blage, president of the Board of Regents of the State Teachers College, and Uel W. Lamkin, president of the College, are in Jefferson City today and will appear this evening before the appropriation committee of the legislature and present the budget for the college here for 1923 and 1924.

The College is asking for an appropriation of $520,000 for the next two years. The following statement presents the needs of the institution:

For salaries, $275,000; present pay roll, $9,838.22 per month. The following teachers must be added at once: Physics (none now employed), Sociology and Economics (none now employed), Primary Methods (none now employed), English (additional), Agricultural (additional), one now employed), Home Economics (additional, one now employed). The above additional teachers will require at least $1,350.00 per month. Two summer sessions will require at least $5,000.00 per year or $10,000.00 for two years. No additional appropriation for office help, janitors, student labor, etc., is included in the budget. The $275,000.00 is the only salary item.

For supplies and equipment for all departments, $50,000. The College has never been adequately equipped. Some equipment which it had must be replaced. The college must have adequate equipment if the standard of instruction is to be maintained. A careful and conservative estimate of actual needs of all departments, including libraries, laboratories, shops, music conservatory, home economics department, the farm, the physical education department showing a minimum requirement of $35,660.00.

Repairs and alterations of present buildings, $50,000. The auditorium about $15,000 necessary because of fire hazard. Only one exit at present, and that at rear of room under motion picture machine. There are no fire escapes. No fire wall from front of stage to roof, no asbestos curtain, no wall between ceiling of auditorium and roof of same to separate from main building. Acoustics bad. Auditorium was planned for balcony, never put in, but now needed. Architect's estimate on remodeling auditorium on basis prices in November, 1922, is $15,000. The "old seminary" building, two story and basement building now on campus. Main part of same is 56x31 feet. The "L" is 46x36. Pools, floors and walls are in fair condition. Radiators for heating are in building. Is not in use and will deteriorate rapidly if not repaired and cared for. To remodel to care for sixty to seventy men students will cost according to architect's estimate (November 1922) $18,000. The power plant only place on campus where there are frame buildings. Here are frame garage and machine shop and frame coal bunkers. These should be replaced by brick or hollow tile additions. The coal bunkers are not adequate. Can store 6 to 7 cars of coal, while engineer's estimate is 24 cars of coal per year. Must have another boiler for emergency use. No room in present power house for it, so east wall must be extended. Architect's estimate of above (November 1922) is $17,000.

For fuel, light and water, $20,000. Engineer's estimate for coal is 1200 tons per year for 2400 tons for biennial period. Light has cost approximately $1200 in the past two years and water $1,000, during the same period.

Rural education, $20,000. The appropriation for rural education is needed for caring for such follow-up work; for co-operation with districts in maintaining model country schools, not less than one in each county; for showing concretely good libraries and other good school equipment; for studying rural conditions in the district for the purpose of helping the country schools of the district, for professional and supervisory work, none of which is administrative.

General repairs, improvements and furnishings, $25,000. It is necessary to have new boiler, pumps, etc., in the power house, not included in section 3, estimated by competent heating engineers to cost $12,710. Much of the

COLD WAVE WARNING RECEIVED HERE TODAY

Temperature at 1:30 o'clock This Afternoon Was 18 Above Zero—
Highest Yesterday Was 54

BULLETIN.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Another cold wave is coming that will grip the whole west and northwest country tonight and continue for two days, it was announced this afternoon by the weather bureau. Coming from the Northwest it will bring "truly winter weather," said the report.

Another cold wave is on the way according to a message from Chicago. It states: "Cold wave tonight. Temperature as low as ten above zero."

The temperature at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon was 18 above zero. The highest temperature yesterday was 54.

The temperature took a drop this morning and at one time it looked like we would have a snow storm. It was still snowing at times this afternoon.

The period from January 29 to February 16 is the "dip" or average period of coldest winter weather, the records for the last thirty years show, according to the Columbia Missourian. From January 29 to February 5 is usually the coldest five-day period.

Soon after the close of the ten-day period, ending on February 10, winter usually begins to break and the temperature shows a rising tendency, so light that it is not noticeable to human beings but plain shown on the records of the bureau.

The upward climb of the temperature continues, until on March 18, the average date, spring is definitely here, which means to the bureau that the average daily temperature never falls below the freezing point.

WANTS HATCHER BOND FORFEITED

THE CITY IS TRYING TO COLLECT
$1,000 SURETIES.

SENT TO PEN FOR 3 YEARS

At Savannah Yesterday When He Pleaded Guilty to Hog Stealing—
Motion Filed for Exoneration.

The city of Maryville is trying to collect the $1,000 bond of Grover Hatcher who is wanted here in a city case. The sureties on the bond are Nat Massie, C. N. Watson and Fred Rowlett of Graham.

Hatcher was sentenced at Savannah yesterday to three years in the penitentiary when he pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing hogs.

The bondsman through their attorney, George Robb Ellison, filed a motion today to stay proceedings in forfeiture of bond and for exoneration on the bond. The motion will be argued before Judge Dawson some day this week.

In their motion, the bondsman stated that Hatcher was arrested by the city of Maryville a year ago January and was fined $500 and given a jail sentence of six months on a liquor charge in city police court on February 7, 1922. Hatcher paid the costs in the case, $20.00, and took an appeal to circuit court. Appeal bond for $1,000 was required and the bond was given with Massie, Watson and Rowlett as sureties.

Hatcher was indicted by the Andrew County grand jury at Savannah on November 15, 1922, for hog stealing and was arrested by Sheriff Everts of Andrew County on December 27.

It was stated that a certified copy of bail bond with Sheriff Roach as agent was issued and Sheriff Roach went to Andrew County for Hatcher, but Sheriff Everts refused to release him. Hatcher voluntarily surrendered himself into the custody of Sheriff Roach in the Andrew County jail, but the sheriff there refused to turn him over.

Arrangements had been made for the appearance of Hatcher in circuit court here today, but the attorney for the insurance company who had insured the hogs, J. W. Mytton of St. Joseph, refused to grant the request.

The motion prays to stay proceedings in forfeiture of bond or recognizance and exonerating the bondsman thereon or to adjudge that Sheriff Everts surrender the body of Hatcher into custody of the circuit court here.

Hatcher is also wanted here on a state charge.

ARRESTS EXPECTED SOON IN WILLIAM TAYLOR MURDER

Authorities Continue Work on Unraveling of Mysterious Death of Movie Director

Los Angeles, Feb. 6 (Copyright 1923).—With an arrest eminent and new information in the hands of the Los Angeles police and department of justice agents, a renewed effort is being made to unravel the mysterious death of William Desmond Taylor, and there is strong information that the slayer will be caught.

Authorities are following two definite lines of investigation since Taylor's death at his home on February 2, 1922, and they have unearthed new information in one instance that may bring new light upon the murder. Detectives are not making public their activities and have not located persons wanted in connection with the crime, but reliable reports say that arrests soon are almost certain, and plans are now being formed to perfect the arrests.

A mass of evidence has been furnished officials by an underworld informant and a former narcotic peddler of Los Angeles which has caused them to redouble their evidence to learn the identity of Taylor's associate, known to have been at his home on the evening of the murder.

The names of a prominent actress of the legitimate stage coupled with the name of film actress, who were questioned by investigators shortly after the slaying, may play an important part in the new probe, it was stated. It is understood that a friend of Taylor, a Hollywood studio man, had passed many nights with Taylor, occupying an adjacent room. Two months previous to the killing, it is said that jealousy developed between the two men over the attentions to a prominent film actress, and marred their friendly relations.

LESLIE G. SOMERVILLE.

THE NEW WAR ON SLAVERY.

We may be glad that there is a turning toward not only more determined, but more practical methods in efforts to control the drug habit. It is possible that lessons will be afforded of value in the control of other products whose prohibition may be held to be desirable in the public interest. Any light making it plain that an evil is not necessarily eradicated the moment its use is outlawed by statute is beneficial and a good deal of light of that quality is being made available in a study of the hideous drug evil.

A slowly dawning consciousness that this great evil is being dealt with in a far from masterly manner when a trembling addict is sent to jail for a few weeks or when the predatory wretch who sells him the drugs for his own undoing is caught and punished, has from the first been inevitable in minds of those most alert to the importance of the problem. In this ameliorative effort the same comparison between effective policies for handling things in a large way and petty, retail policies has been made which has been made so often in the case of another inhibited product. Now come suggestions for striking at the drug evil at its source, for a bold coup which will emancipate thousands of victims but which will involve hardly more time and energy than is often devoted to one individual addict or a single clandestine dealer. It is estimated that for liniment and other external use and for all legitimate internal use under medical supervision in the United States, three and one-half tons of opium would suffice annually. If this is a correct estimate, then about fifty tons would suffice for the legitimate uses of the entire world. But it is ascertained that the world's total production of opium amounts to 14,600 tons. What would happen if this production were cut down by at least 1400 tons a year? The constant recruitment of the army of those who make an habitual use of opium and the substances derived from it could not go on and the army itself would rapidly diminish in numbers.

Why should this excess of more than 1400 tons of opium over any approved use that the world has been permitted to be manufactured, when the certain destination of that 1400 tons is to become an agency for wrecking bodies, brains and souls? Opium's point of origin is the East and Far East—Asia Minor, Persia, China and India, with India making the chief contribution to the total visible supply for limiting the transport of opium in commerce, but that something does not go far enough. It should be made forbidden article of international trade. To save the Indian opium industry, the British Empire once went to war with China to compel it to open its ports after it had prohibited the importation of opium, just as we now prohibit the importation of alcohol. If anyone imagines that the world is not making progress

THE STORY OF CRANBERRIES.

An exceedingly interesting test of the value of advertising has made during recent years by the producers of cranberries. During the 10 years from 1906 to 1916, the consumption was small and growers were hard pressed to meet expenses.

That year the American cranberry exchange started advertising in Chicago. By the close of the season the sales in Chicago were 47 per cent more than in 1915, 27 per cent more than in 1914 and 57 per cent more than in 1913. At the same time in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Cleveland, where no advertising was done, there were decreases in sales running from one to 57 per cent.

In 1918 the first national advertising campaign on cranberries was attempted. It was a bad year to boom the trade. The mild fall and winter was considered detrimental to consumption. The regulation of sugar at that time was an unfavorable factor. It was the general opinion that cranberries would not sell.

But the advertising worked wonders. It began in the United States, October 15. A broker wrote October 25: "The brokers seem to have it in their heads that cranberries are not going to sell here at any extent." On December 1 this broker telegraphed: "Jobbers all out of cranberries. Can't you possibly divert or ship car." So the story came from many places, and on this unfavorable year cranberries sold better than ever before.

The net result of the campaign was to increase consumption to a point where the increased production was inadequate for the demand, and the cost of marketing has been reduced to a minimum.

Any business man may learn from such an experience that his production and sales can be greatly increased if he will push his goods with printer's ink.

DR. THOMAS WRITES ABOUT THE LOUIS MONDT TUSSELE.

(Kansas City Times).

"Well, I've found another friend," said Gabe Kaufman as he approached the sport desk and flung the following letter on the desk: "Read that and don't weep."

Maryville, Mo.—Mr. Gabe Kaufman, Dear Gabe: I was one of the fortunates in that I witnessed the Lewis Mondt thriller.

If you will examine the enclosed stub to my ticket, you will perceive that I had a ring-side seat on the east side of the ring (if my sense of direction was right). At any rate, I was near Lewis' corner and had an unobstructed view of the great tussle. I figured I had the full worth of my money and the journey was made from here to Kansas City for the sole purpose of witnessing that stellar event.

I mention this for the sole purpose of acquainting you with the fact that not every one of the fans holds the belief that the match is conducted in a crooked way.

I understood the rules under which the Lewis Mondt match was to be governed before I made the trip, and I cannot understand how so large and intelligent an audience as was congregated at Convention hall that night could misconstruct them as they did.

There has been a certain surprise for me that inasmuch as Lewis claims Kansas City for his home, together with the further fact that he is a good, clean wrestler of wonderful ability the fans should have been so discourteous toward him. As a matter of fact, I am always surprised and chagrined when such discourtesies crop out against either contestant. I personally enjoy meritorious work of each contestant and seldom, if ever, do I attend such a spectacle when I permit myself to play a favorite. Sometimes, I think the event would be very much more enjoyable if the crowd would assume that sort of attitude, for, after all, we attend these big tests for the fun we can derive from them.

I am enclosing a draft for $6.00 with the hope that you can send two tickets to me which will land me about where I sat on the night of the 2nd of last month.

There are two reasons why I am counting on you to comply with this request, 1. (1) Nobody present, I venture to assert, will enjoy the run more than I, and (2) as a matter of necessity I shall have to arrive at 6 o'clock a. m. and journey north on the 13th in order to not disappoint myself and the wrestlers.

Thanking you in advance for this favor, and assuring you that I have derived great pleasure, in the past, from your efforts in the sport line, I am your truly,

MORE PRAYER, MORE YOUNG PEOPLE IN CHURCH URGED

First Christian Church Committee Makes Many Suggestions For the Year.

Many other recommendations were made by the special committee of the First Christian Church in addition to the new building proposition as stated in yesterday's paper. The following is the remainder of the report:

We, the members of a special committee appointed by our Pastor, wish to submit the following report:—

Christian Living.
We think it best to urge every member of the church to make the beginning of this year a time for re-consecration of heart and life to our Master, and make every effort to bring his life to the highest point to Christian living and service. As aids to this high point of spirituality, we recommend:

That much attention be given to prayer. Prayer life in the home should not be neglected and we urge a larger and more regular attendance of all our members to the Church-night services.

That every member strive to attend the Sunday services of the church with regularity, especially by the Communion service and the morning worship.

That parents should co-operate with our Church leaders in trying to get more young people to attend the morning worship, including the Communion service, by both precept and example.

Young People's Work.
To promote a greater interest in the church among our young people, your committee recommends the organization of a Young People's Council, following in its plan of organization the County Council plan. We suggest further that Margaret Louise Hosmer and Townsend Godsey be named the temporary leaders of said Council.

We recommend that such Council, when organized, make a special study of Doctrinal and Fundamental matters of Faith, and also strive to acquaint themselves with the distinctive plea of our Brotherhood.

We further recommend that our young people promote the organization of a Volunteer Band in our church putting on a canvass for memberships to said Band and bring it to the highest efficiency.

Bible School.
We believe the greatest weakness of our present school is the lack of efficient leaders. We therefore, urge the members of the church to volunteer their services as teachers in the school.

We further urge regularity and punctuality upon the part of all the officers and teachers of the school.

We recommend the organization of a Training class to prepare the Volunteers for their special lines of service in the school and church. We believe the best time for such a class to meet is on Wednesday nights following the regular mid-week services.

We wish further to urge larger offerings in our Bible school. We suggest five cents a member as a minimum average for the whole school, believing this amount to be adequate to take care of our needs and provide better equipment than is now possible with the present offerings from Sunday to Sunday.

Missions.
Your committee believes the Missionary Spirit to be the real life giving spirit of any Congregation. To further this Missionary zeal in our own church we recommend that our members co-operate with the pastor in the school of Missions to be inaugurated soon. We believe a membership of 100 in this school should be a minimum goal.

We recommend that all our Missionary Departments of the church make the greatest effort possible to meet their full apportionments this year and have any retrenchments in our Missionary giving. We further urge every member of the church to be a contributor to Missions and Benevolences.

Unity of Departments.
We urge the heartiest co-operation of one Department with another and all must strive to build up the church, which after all is the final aim of all our work. No Society or Department should be considered an end in itself, but all such are means to the final end of extending the Kingdom and the saving of human souls.

Unity of Women's work.
Since the merging of all our National Missionary and Benevolent organizations into one United Society has proven to be successful, we recommend the uniting of all the Women's work of our church by the organization of what is known as the Women's Council; the plan used by the churches of Kansas City so effectively.

Unified Service.
As there has been much discussion favoring the United Service for our Morning program and there are many advantages to said plan, such as a saving of time, giving longer class period, a shortening of the entire service and a stronger appeal to all to remain for the Communion and preaching service, your committee wishes to recommend that the heads of all our Departments constitute a committee to make investigations of such a plan, looking toward the Unified Service and the Junior Congregation. We suggest here that our Missionary Societies might sponsor the Junior Congregation.

Appreciation.
We note with pleasure the success of our Choir Director in our Choir work and here voice our appreciation of the good music we are now having. Feeling, however, that we have not yet reached the top round of efficiency, we recommend:

First, that all who have any ability to sing or play an instrument volunteer for the choir or orchestra. We believe that it is as sacred to sing the gospel as to preach it and all who can sing should use this talent for the Lord.

Second, that our choir should be larger than at present. We have spent considerable money enlarging the platform and thus have the room for a large chorus choir, and we believe that the filling of the platform with singers at all services would be a great asset to our work. We realize that our Choir Director cannot do this without the hearty co-operation of all.

Our Leaders.
We are proud of the members of our official body and the leadership which they are giving our work. We would like to urge, however, a more regular attendance of its members upon all the regular services of the church.

The Committee wishes to voice the feeling of the church in expressing our appreciation of our Pastor and wish to urge all to stand by him and follow him in every undertaking.

Members Of Committee:
Price Doyle, E. W. Glenn, Townsend Godsey, W. E. Goforth, Fannie Hope, Bertha Anderson, Laura Hawkins, Margaret Louise Hosmer, Mrs. Robert Lyle.

Carrying the idea farther, Gilbreth found also that where workers are folding handkerchiefs, those handling handkerchiefs with mourning borders get much more tired by three or four o'clock in the afternoon than when working on all white handkerchiefs. Switching the border to and fro in front of the eye, as the handkerchief is folded, is enough to make the pupil of the eye get larger and smaller with consequent fatigue.

Similarly, says Gilbreth, machinery and work places in a factory are some times arranged parallel to windows when a better plan would be at right angles to the windows, allowing the light to come in sideways instead of having the work seen only in silhouette. Sometimes, however, when machines must be poorly placed, the wearing of a white jacket or a white shirt reflects enough additional light to make an important difference in the quality of the work—Fred Kelly in the Nation's Business.

OBITUARY.
Stella Adaline Ingerson was born at Georgetown, Colo., June 4, 1880 and died at her home in Pickering February 3, 1923, age 42 years and 8 months.

When she was about six months old her parents moved to Nodaway County and located on the Ingerson farm, two miles south of Pickering. Here she grew up and here on Dec. 14, 1899, she was married to Ernest Bainum. Two children were born of this union, Mildred and George, who are left to mourn one of the best mothers.

Besides her husband and children, deceased also leaves her father, George Ingerson of Maryville, one brother, Percy of Greeley, Colo., and four sisters. The sisters are Mrs. E. W. Green of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. J. G. Dyer, Chicago; Mrs. A. R. Harper, Fort Morgan, Colo., and Mrs. D. Claire Moffitt, Longmont, Colo.

Mrs. Bainum was converted at the age of 15 and joined the M. E. Church under the ministry of the Rev. N. J. Moats. Since then her life has been a continual demonstration of the teachings of the Christ. She was a great sufferer. Nine years ago the Mayo surgeons of Rochester, Minn., told her she might live a year, but her life has been spared in a marvelous way. Through these years of suffering she remained cheerful and instead of complaining at her lot she frequently expressed gratitude that she was no worse.

The funeral was conducted by the Rev. Lane Douglas, her pastor, at the Pickering Methodist Church, at 2 p. m. Tuesday and the body was interred at Maryville.

"She is at rest, in God's own presence blest,
Her days are o'er, she counts the years no more,
Time's footfall is not heard along the golden street,
"Her faith is sight, her hope is full delight,
The shadowy veil of time is rent in twain;
Her untold bliss—what thought can follow this!
To her to live was Christ, to die indeed is gain."

The Transportation of Democracy
No vehicle devised by man has come into such wide use in so short a time as the automobile. There are approximately 10,250,000 motor cars and 1,250,000 motor trucks in the United States. Some authorities say the point of saturation is 17,000,000. You would think, from the congestion on city street and country highways in summer time, the estimate of saturation point is too high.

The person afoot has to watch his step. Even then casualties are many. Traffic problems become more perplexing year by year.

DARK COLORS CAUSE FATIGUE

Frank B. Gilbreth, industrial engineer, declares that much fatigue in business offices might be saved if typewriters were painted white instead of black. This is his explanation: "The pupil of the eye of the typist is constantly trying to adapt itself to that part of the retina which is overstimulated or underviewed by black and white objects, viewed simultaneously. Consequently anyone who works continuously on a black and white object will have the pupil of his eye alternately contracting and expanding until excessive fatigue sets in. This is so apparent that it can actually be seen by an observer with the naked eye."

Carrying the idea farther, Gilbreth found also that where workers are folding handkerchiefs, those handling handkerchiefs with mourning borders get much more tired by three or four o'clock in the afternoon than when working on all white handkerchiefs. Switching the border to and fro in front of the eye, as the handkerchief is folded, is enough to make the pupil of the eye get larger and smaller with consequent fatigue.

One thing for which Henry Ford does not get credit it that, but for him, there probably would be vigorous opposition to the automobile and it would know many restrictions. If it were the vehicle solely of the rich or well-to-do, a class consciousness would have been aroused. But nearly half the automobiles are Fords, and no longer can it be said truthfully that "The rich, they ride in chaises."

The vast majority of the Fords are owned by wage workers or persons of modest income. The democracy of the automobile gives to it an immunity it otherwise might not command.

Who, twenty-five years ago, when the automobile was introduced, would believe that more than 10,000,000 passenger vehicles would be in use in this country today and about 5,000,000 of them by wage-earners or salaried men and farmers?

Thus far the industry has had a tendency to prove its most sanguine prophets conservative.—The Nation's Business.

Nothing Doing

The Story of W.C. Durant's "Come-back" and Wizardry of Organization

Almost everywhere that business and finance are mentioned the name of W. C. Durant is invariably brought into the conversation because of his spectacular comeback and wizardry at organization in the business world. W. A. P. John's recently had a very interesting interview with Mr. Durant, which was printed in the St. Louis Star. The following is reproduced as a portion of the article appearing in the Star:

Having begun in 1903 with nothing but vision, courage and confidence, when W. C. Durant was ousted from positions for his friends. And for himself a priceless name.

Then Durant Motors.

Yet in the two short years that followed he again started the world—this time with an achievement that even dwarfs the ones of which I have been writing. It is the most amazing story in the entire amazing history of the automobile industry—the story of Durant Motors, Inc.

Having announced that he would take a vacation (and it later came out that for his eighteen hours' work a day as president of General Motors he had never drawn a salary or handed in an expense account), Durant wrote sixty-seven letters to personal friends. He told them that he was planning to build and market "just a real good car" and invited them to invest in the company that would bear his name. Within forty-eight hours he had received checks and subscriptions for over $7,000,000, two million dollars of which were returned, only five million being required.

On January 12, 1921, Durant Motors was incorporated—without a car—without a plant—without a hammer—without a single piece of steel—without anything but W. C. Durant and the faith of his friends. To his banner came flocking his old loyal lieutenants—men with whom he had worked for years—men who seem to idolize him in a strangely intense and beautiful fashion.

Within forty-seven days the first Durant car had been designed and built.

Four months and four days later the public saw the Durant Four for the first time. Less than ninety days thereafter the company had received orders for 30,000 cars valued at $31,000,000, at an unbelievable low total sales expense of 1-20 of 1 per cent.

On February 15, 1922, Durant announced that the company would build a small four-cylinder car of modern design and retail the various models at current Ford prices. It was the famous Star car.

Three weeks later the first Star was shown at Washington, where 27,000 people saw it the first day. In every city where it has been shown thousands have flocked to see it. In Detroit the show-room was stormed, and after waiting for several hours to get a glimpse of W. C. Durant's famous model, I gave up in disgust.

Ten thousand dealers have applied for the Star franchise; of that number 1,000 have been accepted. As these words are being written—and doubtless they will be obsolete by the time they appear in print—orders for 231,000 Star cars (all that can be built with present plants up to January 1, 1924) have been accepted with deposits; and over 300,000 orders are on the books waiting to be accepted.

I asked him some questions regarding "capital" and instead of a blast of bitterness, I heard a keen, dispassionate exposition of the balancing of factors in national prosperity. He did, however, express keen regret that the so-called big bankers of the country, by reason of unchecked greed and questionable methods, did not enjoy the confidence and respect of men engaged in constructive industrial undertakings.

There is in him one characteristic which will overshadow and outweigh even his honesty, his sincerity, his kindness, his faith in his fellow men, and his appreciation of their trust.

Rare Love for Mother.

And that characteristic is his love for his mother. Of the dozens with whom I have spoken concerning him, most have singled out that particular trait as most indicative of the man.

They told me how, in the midst of the most pressing and vitally important situations, he has dropped everything and rushed across the country when advised that she was indisposed; how he has always managed to take some sort of a vacation at her side at her summer home in Pentwater, Mich.; how, when she was still in her youthful eighties, it was not an infrequent sight for them to be seen together at the theatre and later at some youthfully atmospheric restaurant; how her slightest wish has always been to him.

TODAY I AM
REAL WELL

So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Jamestown, N. Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and tablet forms, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the Change of Life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. ALICE D. DAVIS, 203 W. Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.

Often some slight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system, indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, backache, lack of ambition and general weakness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles. In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

more than an imperial command; how he has spent four nights in a sleeper to be with her a few hours; how they have been constant companions and idolized each other; how he has always been her boy, "Willie."

And so at the very end of our first meeting I made bold to mention that knowledge to Mr. Durant. He listened to me in silence—gazing out over the park; and his eyes (it unbalanced me for the moment) glistened with tears.

"Yes," he said, quietly, as he rose and walked quickly towards his office, in an endeavor to conceal his emotion, "that's all quite true, Mr. John. Every word of it. She has always thought I was a wonderful boy. And I have tried not to disappoint her."

(Concluded.)

"NEWSPAPER ADS"

BEST FOR CHURCHES"

Minister Says Money Should Be Set Aside.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Every church should set aside money to be used for newspaper advertising, the Rev. J. T. Barber of the committee on conservation and advance of the Methodist Episcopal church declared in an address here Sunday.

"The church can send its message in the papers to non-church readers and to those of its members detained at home because of sickness, business or other causes," he said. "The preacher speaks to hundreds, while the newspapers speak to thousands and millions. Church members should assist editors, but criticism of editors and editorial policies of news is harmful. The pulpit and press should pull together and not apart."

campus should be used by the department of agriculture. Fences are necessary in order to do so. At least $500 must be used for this purpose. For the building of walks, from the dormitory to the college, and elsewhere on the campus, for the construction of roads drives, to properly use the land now belonging to the college would require at least $2500. For farm buildings on the campus such as poultry house, hog house, dairy barn, etc., at least $7,000 is necessary. In addition to the above there are repairs, replacements throughout the buildings and on the grounds which must be made from time to time and for which an appropriation of $7,000 to $8,000 is needed. For all of the above the Board is making a request for a total of $25,000.

For new gymnasium and athletic field, $100,000. The increased attendance at the college makes it necessary for us to have additional room for instruction purposes. Without exception, this is the only college supported by the state which has but one building designed for class room instruction. That building has heretofore been sufficient, but at present it is not sufficient to properly care for the students attending the college. The most economical arrangement would be to move the present shops into the present gymnasium and to utilize the six rooms, now used for shop purposes as class rooms and to build a new gymnasium and physical education building with its accompanying athletic field. This is advisable, first, because it is the most economical arrangement; second, it gives adequate quarters for the present needs of the shops; and fourth, it would give a modern gymnasium and athletic field, the present gymnasium not being suited to the demands of the physical education department of the college. The minimum amount necessary for a new gymnasium and athletic field is $100,000.00. Deficiency, $5,391.44. In addition to the above it is necessary for the legislature to appropriate the sum of $5,391.44 to meet a deficiency incurred for coal for the biennial period 1921-1922.

Unreleased appropriation. Attention is called to the fact that in 1921 appropriation for burner equipment and repair was made for each of four educational institutions, including the one for Maryville. Had it been released and used as other institutions have used it, there would have been no deficiency and some of repairs called for in Item VI could have been taken care of.

The following shows something of the growth of the College during the past two years:

Registration fall quarter, 1920-21, 255; registration winter quarter, 1920-21, 263; registration spring quarter, 1920-21, 238; registration fall quarter, 1921-22, 381; registration winter quarter, 1921-22, 440; registration spring quarter, 1921-22, 451; registration fall quarter 1922-23, 550.

The summer registration 1920 was 479; summer quarter registration 1921, was 642; summer quarter registration 1922, was 1045. In all of above all duplicates are eliminated.

Correspondence and Extension: 1919-20, 94; 1920-21, 298; 1921-22, 527.

150 COMMUNIST LEADERS ARE ARRESTED IN ITALY.

Rome, Feb. 6.—More than 150 Communist leaders have been arrested throughout Italy during the past forty-eight hours, charged with agitation against the Fascists. One of the leaders has been identified as Armistead Nelson, an American, who is said to have arrived recently from New York. Many Reds have been arrested with large sums of money on them, said to have come from Moscow to finance the movement against the Fascists.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS MAKE READY FOR SPRING CONTESTS

Chorus, Glee Clubs, and Orchestra Practice Every Day—History Club Elects Officers.

The high school musicians are out for some prizes in the spring contests this year. The chorus and the glee clubs are having practice nearly every day, during activity hour. Mr. Schnabel has charge of the boys' glee club and Mrs. St. Clair directs the girls' glee club. The orchestra is meeting regularly, and some members of the orchestra are practicing for the solo contests.

The girls interested in declamation, met with Miss Hawkins this morning. Mrs. Manley's gym class also had a meeting. They practiced calisthenics and folk dancing. The girls interested in a girls' literary club had a meeting with Miss Lucas. The history club had its second meeting this morning. The officers were elected at the meeting. They were: President, Ned Colbert; vice president, Vodie Willoughby; secretary, Helen Leamer, and reporter, Loren Gault.

A Pound Of Ford, Please.

In Cleveland one night recently, writes Fred Kelley in The Nation's Business, "I accepted both dinner and lodging in the apartment of Col. Leonard Q. Ayres, assistant extraordinary and vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company. After I had inserted myself in striped pajamas and crowded in beneath my host's immaculate and moltingly cov'riets Colonel Ayres personally came in, sat on the edge of the bed and hospitably permitted himself to be engaged in conversation. We chatted about the days when he was a professional bicycle rider and a good bicycle cost $125.

Suddenly Ayres was not merely the genial host but the penetrating statistician.

"Did you ever stop to think," he asked, "that at the present prices of Ford cars, a Ford sells for about 15 cents a pound? On that basis an ordinary 24-pound bicycle, such as we used to ride would cost $3.60."

"After that I sat up in bed wide awake and asked him many questions about automobiles. The most startling figures I learned were these: Of the entire income of the United States, amounting to $4 billion dollars, one-eighth is spent on automobiles, and one-eighth of this or roughly, one billion, goes for gasoline alone. This billion a year for gasoline is about the same as the total expenditure in the United States for education."

"POOR OLD JIM" PLEASES THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DINERS

College Students Give Playlet Last Night—Dr. Henry Hebburn of Chicago Speaks.

"Poor Old Jim," a one act playlet, given under the direction of Miss Blanche Dow, was the feature of the weekly Chamber of Commerce luncheon last night. William Mapel, provoked much laughter as Poor Old Jim, who fell off the "Waterwagon" while at the club. He was ably assisted by Miss Lucile Humberg, as his heartbroken wife and Perry Eads, the doctor.

About sixty members were present at the "ladies night" meeting of the club. Dr. Henry Hebburn, a former Nodaway County boy, and now pastor of the Buena Memorial Church in Chicago, talked briefly to the diners and left as his message the thought that the Chamber of Commerce should be an organization of service.

MRS. JANE BROYLES, AGED HOPKINS RESIDENT, DIES.

Death Came to 82 Year Old Woman at St. Joseph—Funeral Will Be At Hopkins Thursday.

Mrs. Jane Broyles of Hopkins died at 12:30 o'clock this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mattie Lindsey in St. Joseph, with whom she had been spending the winter. Mrs. Broyles fell two weeks ago receiving a broken collar bone when she sustained a paralytic stroke. She was 82 years old and had been a resident of Hopkins for forty-five years. BUICKS AND GOODYEARS

Must Cut Hedges

The law provides that all hedges along the highways must be kept trimmed. There are several places along the State Highway in this county where the hedges have been neglected. This is to notify all persons whose hedges need trimming and whose fence rows need cleaning of brush, that the work should be done at once.
